How Eclipse of the Sun Looked in Hope Sunday

—Hope Star Photo

At 3:56 o'clock Sunday afternoon the sun looked like a quarter-moon—at the peak of its eclipse by the moon. The Star made four photographs from the hill on which the highschool is situated, between 3:45 o'clock and 3:56, having to wait for breaks in the low-hanging clouds to make any pictures at all. Exposures were by a 2 1/2 x 3 1/4 Speed Graphic, on Agfa Isopan-film (Weston rating 40), at 1-100th second with a 1-fitter (heavy green, equivalent to using a piece of smoked glass). Four different openings on the lens were tried, one at F 16, one at F 11, and two at F 8—all being usable, but the smaller lens-openings, F 16 and F 11, giving superior.

Germany Justifies Seizure, Saying Allies Were Planning Same — the Danes Surrender But the Norwegians Fight

STOCKHOLM—(AP)—The City of Oslo, capital of Norway, surrendered to the German forces at 10 a. m. Tuesday.

Dispatches reaching Stockholm, Sweden, said the Norwegian police chief had resigned and he was replaced by German officials.

The Norwegian government moved to the lake village of Hamar, north of Oslo.

The Norwegian army was reported to be guarding its defense line between Oslo and Hamar to protect the new capital and to cover the mobilization of inland towns.

Population Flees
Fully half the population were reported to have left Oslo before the city surrendered to German troops.

The Germans are landing from warships along the city's harbor.

Oslo before its surrender reported, all roads from town were blocked by German troops, who halted the withdrawal of civilians.

The Germans mounted machine-guns at all places they occupied.

BERLIN—(AP)—The German official news agency DNB announced from Oslo Tuesday night that a "new Norwegian government" had been formed.

DNB said a proclamation was read from an Oslo radio station (presumably under German control) by Jorjo Vidkun Quisling, head of the Norwegian Nazi party, who declared he would head the new governments "national assembly."

Danes Capitate
BERLIN—(AP)—A DNB, official German news agency, dispatch from Copenhagen said King Christian, as the Danish sovereign, and Premier Stauning, as head of the Danish government, Tuesday afternoon addressed a proclamation to the Danish people asking them to refrain from untoward acts, and to maintain a calm attitude, at the same time assuring the people that Denmark is submitting to the German invasion under protest.

By the Associated Press
Germany invaded Norway and Denmark Tuesday. The European war engulfed Scandinavia, bringing air raids, coastal battles and landing parties to the Norwegian shores while Germany's legions swept apparently unimpeded through Denmark.

The Norwegians fought back.

As far as was known the Danes offered no resistance.

The United States Minister to Norway, Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, reported "Norway is at war with Germany," the only official statement which has reached the United States government.

A German radio said Denmark had decided to accept "German protection."

To Occupy Norway
The German high command said the occupation of Norway was "proceeding rapidly," and that "slight local resistance by Norwegian troops had ceased."

Britain and France immediately promised Norway full aid to fight Germany.

Germany handed identical notes to the Norwegian and Danish governments asserting the invasion aimed at getting the jump on the Allies, who were accused by the Reich of planning similar a "surprise occupation" themselves.

Urging Scandinavia to refrain from resisting, Germany said was she taking the two nations under her "protection" for the duration of the war to guard vital German supply sources.

Spanish Balance Sheet
Surely when three-quarters of a million human beings have poured out their lives in bringing about a certain result, the world may be pardoned an inquiry as to just what was that result.
It is not quite one year ago that General Franco of Spain mounted the steps of Santa Barbara Cathedral in Madrid and handed his sword to Cardinal Goma y Tomas. He was master of Spain. The dead were dead. The living were ended.
The republic, with all its dissensions, its political turmoil, its disorders, was dead. France was free to begin establishing his state.
A year has passed. Here are the leading accomplishments:
There is order.
More than a half million adherents or suspected adherents of the republic are in prison.
Much reconstruction of war's ravages has been accomplished; many of the 12,000 destroyed Madrid buildings have been replaced.
The grandees have their lands back, the Jesuits have been returned to their former position. The traditional religion of Spain has been restored to its ancient place.
A British credit of $10,000,000 and 250,000 bales of American cotton on credit are helping to restore business, though food is scarce and prices are high.
Business is under complete control of the government. No factory may build an addition, not a peasant's worth of goods may be imported, without government permits. Prices are fixed by the government.
The Falange, Fascist organization headed by Franco, has instituted a regime which throughout is very like that of Italy, including dreams of empire. Even in the far Philippines, there is evidence of this effort to propagate the Falangist system.
How long it will take Spain to get its broken transport system, its shattered economies, back to where they were four years ago, it is hard to say. The less tangible results of the bitter civil war will be considered gains by some, losses by others. As Americans, it is almost impossible for us to judge. What comes to the American mind is not so much "Is this good?" as "Was this really necessary?"
What might be learned is a lesson against intolerance. Because two opposing factions in Spain's life could not, or would not, adjust themselves to one another in a workable manner, 750,000 men and women are dead. And the long, painful climb back toward a life of peace, toleration, and security for all is just beginning.
The Spanish civil war, like all wars, settled nothing. Only as good-will grows again in the Spanish earth will a life that is really better begin its slow return.

RIGHT OR WRONG ABOUT PEOPLE
By DONALD LAIRD
Ph. D., S.D.
Author of "How to Improve Your Brain Power"
Why Is Insanity Increasing?
Is it true that somewhere around the year 1975 there will not be a sane person left in the country? Some professional alarmists have made exactly that claim. Both their reasoning and their statistics have been wrong, however.
It is a fact that there are twice as many people in hospitals because of a mental disorder as in hospitals for all other diseases combined. But this is due largely to an insane patient staying in the hospital a year or two, while in the other hospitals, the patient is returned home in a few days or weeks.
It is also true that each year recently there have been more people who "cracked" and had to go to mental hospitals for special treatment. Our hospitals are packed full, but this is a result of the fact that we have a larger proportion of old persons in our population now.
The only actual increase in mental diseases has been among these old persons. The form of disorder on the increase is known as psychosis associated with hardening of the arteries in the brain.
This increase is not due to reckless living or the world becoming harder on nerves. It is due entirely to the expected hardening of arteries among older folks.
There is no significant increase in insanity among young persons, or middle-aged persons. Even the increase among older persons is sort of a statistical artifact, since it is due to the fact that there are more older persons in the world.
While our old folks have been increasing in number, our many research psychiatrists have been busy finding cures for mental diseases which used to be hopeless. The march of science is thus counteracting the inroads of age. So-called shock treatments and operations on nerve plexuses are now curing hundreds who would not have been cured five years ago.
Don't worry about us all being out of our heads by 1975. By that time, we as a nation may actually be the sanest in our history.

April

Golden and snowy and red the flowers,
Golden, snowy and red in vain;
Robins call robins thru sad showers;
The white dove's feet are wet with rain.
But April sobs while these are glad;
April weeps while these are so gay.
Weeps like a tired child who had
Playing with flowers lost its way,
H. H.
But every tear is answered by a blossom,
Every sigh with songs and laughter blent,
April blossoms upon the breezes toss

them.
April knows her own and is con-

SMART 1940 DODGE 2-DOOR LUXURY LINER

Roominess and unified decorative treatment
must be mentioned among features of this 1940 Dodge 2-door De Luxe Sedan, a large and elegant car in which upholstery and equipment make an unusually comfortable interior.
The lines of the wholly new body create a more than ordinarily pleasing streamline silhouette, which is further emphasized by the rakishly tilted windshield, the graceful slant of the rear, the clean sides and the massive, speed-lined fenders. The wheelbase of this attractive model is 119½ inches.

By BRUCE CATTON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Murphy's 'Spy' Hunt, Rumors Die Together

WASHINGTON — Shortly before he resigned as attorney general to go on the Supreme Court, Frank Murphy called a special grand jury in Washington and put its nose to the trail of foreign agents.

Nothing made quite a splash, and the impression was that it would deal with subversive activities of all kinds, including sabotage—which was ridiculous on the face of it, Washington having no factories and hence no possibilities of sabotage.

Now, after two and one-half months
the jury has gone out of existence, its work having been confined to investigation of violations of the law which compels foreign agents to register with the State Department. It indicted a half dozen or so of Russian outfits and their officers, caused as many more to go in and register—and, indirectly, was the source of as wild a set of rumors as any grand jury ever innocently engendered.

Lots of Talk But Nothing Happened

Rumor number one was that this investigation was to be the administration's big, final and conclusive answer to the charge that it has been too chummy with the Communist. According to this one, things were timed so, that just before the political conventions, a roof-lifting flood of indictments would be handed down, naming practically every prominent Communist in the country. A few days before the jury dissolved,
a man who had testified before it assured me that at least 100 people would be indicted.

Well, that didn't happen.

The other rumor went in the other direction. It held that the administration was pulling its punches because it was afraid of Communist retaliation; that Communists had given warning that if the party got rough they would voluntarily go before the Diet committee and tell all they knew about the fine co-operation they once got from divers government officials.

Incidentally, around the first of the year Martin Dies did get a bunch of surreptitious grapevine reports that some of his dearest enemies were going to come in and spill the beans.
Since then he has had to go to law
to make the Communists answer any questions at all, so the second rumor
now looks about like the first one.

Anyway, the grand jury has gone;
and you can bet that any more studies the Justice Department makes on the subject, will be done very quietly.

Friends Disappointed in Van- denburg

Some of Senator Vandenberg's close friends here are saying he made a great mistake by refusing to go to Wisconsin and campaign actively.
Study of election figures persuades them Dewey won by default; that the one real blow struck for Vandenburg — Senator Nyes Madison speech the week before election — was highly effective in that area, and that the state could have been had with an energetic campaign.

The Wisconsin primary, by the way,
is like a chilling frost to the hopes of sundry Republican dark horses.
Many had figured if Dewey got round ly trounced the party's chief front runner would be eliminated; a Vandenberg victory, accordingly, a Vandenberg victory, accordingly, would have caused a number of brand-new candidates to appear. A few may come out anyway, but there won't be half as many as if the vote had gone the other way.

A university freshman gave up his seat to Mrs. Roosevelt in a transcontinental plane, thus permitting her to make connections on her way to the west coast from New York. He probably figured that trying to delay her would be like standing in the way of a planet in motion.

Varied Opinion On Eligibility Ruling

Will Result in Fewer
"Ripe" College Grid
Prospects

LITTLE ROCK — (AP) — Varied opinions came from some of the Arkansas
high school coaches, willing to go on record, about the Arkansas Athletic association's new so-called "six-semester" rule.

Some of the opinions were pessimistic, some philosophical, some downright optimistic and some just lukewarm. However, most of the coaches agreed that the long range effects would be:

1. No more big business men on high school gridirons;
2. Fewer "ripe" college football prospects rampaging around Arkansas at Thanksgiving.

A reduction in the average age
of high school athletes.
The rule, as officially interpreted by AAA President L. M. Goza of Arkadelphia, provides that youngsters entering the ninth grade next fall have eight semesters (four years) of athletic eligibility in high school in the case of "three-year" senior high schools, which include only the 10th, 11th and 12th grades, a 10th grade student has only six semesters of athletic eligibility. The rule does not prohibit the three-year senior high schools
from using ninth graders on the "varsity" teams.

So-called three-year high schools include Pine Bluff, Fort Smith, Little Rock, Hot Springs and North Little Rock. Clarksville, a four-year high school, does not use its ninth graders on "varsity" teams.

Athletes, who will be high school seniors next year but who have been in school eight semesters since they entered the ninth grade, will play no more high school football or other sport.

Earthquakes and Sunspots

Much remains to be learned as to why earthquakes occur more frequently during certain periods of the year than during others, but there seems to be sufficient data on hand to prove that most quakes occur in years when sunspots are fewer.

His gal said something he didn't like, so a young swain pulled a public telephone off the wall, hopped in his car and sped through the city until he was overtaken by police, arrested on eight separate charges. It was worth it if he got in a last word
before smashing the phone.

Guggenheim at 70 Is Turning Lyrical

Pens Little Song Called
"You're a Glamour Girl"

By TOM WOLF

NEA Service Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — A new and sturdi-
er metal has edged into Tin Pan Alley. It's copper. For William Guggenheim, youngest living son of Meyer Guggenheim, who founded the philanthropic, copper mining family, has turned to song writing. Young Mr.
Guggenheim is 70.

The return of servants who mark the 3 Riverside Drive mansion, where Mr.
Guggenheim lives alone in state, had long suspected that their employer was about to take the plunge. The stocky, slightly deaf Guggenheim heir had shown a marked interest in both poetry and jazz even before he retired some 15 years ago from active service in the family mining business.

But they never thought that the first of his published songs would bear

the title "You're a Glamour Girl."
It all started when Mr. Guggenheim was introduced to Abby Hanover, publisher and composer of star hit tunes as "Farewell to Araby," "Chasing Shadows," "On the Beach at Ball Ball," and the recent "No More Rain."
Mr. Guggenheim showed Mr. Silver set to work writing the melody. And more are going to follow.
The song recently published, behind a front cover decorated by the beautiful face of George Jessel's 16-year-old fiancee, Lois Andrews, points toward its glamour girl isn't a movie star or a deb, but a "live-and-dine"
working girl.
"Mr. Guggenheim knows about these society and movie glamour girls," he said, "his partner-in-song, Mr. Silver, is marked with a touch of pride. He no stick in the mud. He goes to the night spots with the best of them. And he's seen them all. Even if his head time is 11 p. m. sharp."

Come In and See the New Luxury Liner, Greatest Car Dodge Ever Built!

DON'T let anyone tell you that you can't afford a Dodge Luxury Liner!
Just read what Mr. Ernest M.
Collett, of Chicago, says: "...Like a lot of people, I always thought I couldn't afford a big car.

"The price of the smaller, 4-door
sedan I nearly bought was only $61.23
less than the big, 4-door Dodge sedan.
Here's only a difference of $3.41 a month in my payments. And look how much more I got in a Dodge!
It gives me 'big car' performance and riding comfort! On top of this, I got Dodge Engineering that means real economy on gas and oil and upkeep!"

Why not make up your mind right away

Musical Festival April 19 and 20th

Annual District Contest to Be Held at Nashville

NASHVILLE, Ark. — The District Musical Festival, which replaces the annual district literary meet, will be held at Nashville, Friday and Saturday, April 19 and 20. It was announced by E. J. Moody, district president.

Because the name of literary meet was dropped and the meet given the name of musical festival, many conceivably thought the program would not be as good as in the past, but Mr. Moody is of the opinion that in many ways the program will be more interesting than those formerly held. While there will be no piano contests, there will be other features to compensate for this loss.

This year the competition will not be between schools, as has been the case heretofore, and no cups or other trophies will be awarded, except certificates of grade. Each group will be graded by competent judges, and consideration given to the other groups in grading each particular group. In all cases the grade, all can be placed in the grade.

The program will begin Friday night at the high school auditorium, and the program will include boys' quartets and girls' trios only. With entries from over the district, the program will be about the right length to be entertaining.

Saturday morning the program will consist of girls' glee clubs, boys' glee clubs and girls' ensembles.

Saturday morning the preliminaries in track and field events will also be held at Scrapper Field.

All of Saturday afternoon will be devoted to the finals in the track and field events at Scrapper Field, starting at 2:30.

Saturday night the program will include boys' ensembles and mixed choruses, and will close with what is expected to be the greatest spectacle held in connection with a district meet—an all festival chorus.

In this all students entered will join in the singing of the required song for mixed choruses, and it is expected that several hundred voices will be heard in the chorus. No definite plans have yet been made for the grouping of the chorus, but Mr. Moody stated that some feasible plan will be worked out in advance. It would be impossible to get a very big part of the chorus on the stage in the auditorium.

SERIAL STORY K. O. CAVALIER BY JERRY BRONDFIELD

Copyright 1939, NEA Service, Inc.

YESTERDAY, Eddie is in good shape, gives the sea air credit, he admits. Val, but after wouldn't he so had it he could just forget she is a newspaperwoman. When Val takes over preparing Eddie's diet, Cavalier kids, new Eddie himself, feeling better. Only after he has peeled 25 pounds does he know that an electric peeler would have done the job in 15 minutes.

CHAPTER XI
"I got a thousand bucks for each one I ate I wouldn't touch a one," Eddie Cavalier pushed the potatoes away from him distastefully.

Val grinned. "I'll have a double helping tonight," she said and Steve Hansen roared.

"I took a beating in my second amateur fight that I'll never forget," Eddie said to Mike Kelly. "But that was mild compared to what I'm taking aboard this mud scow."

But he grinned as he said it. Val Douglas liked that grin. It was sincere and boyish and she wondered why she'd never noticed it before.

The sky was overcast and there was a slight mist in the air when they had finished eating and went up on deck.

"Pretty raw night," Captain Hansen observed. "I don't like the looks of this," he said thoughtfully.

"And I've read every piece of printed matter aboard ship," Eddie grumbled. "Including the seaman's manual and the calendar, from January to December."

Val laughed. "And then before she hardly knew what she was saying, I've got some checkers down in my cabin."

"Well," he said delightedly. "What are we waiting for?" They left Steve Hansen standing there. "Well, I'll be—"

Steve said softly, and reached for his pipe. "I wonder..."

VAL curled her legs under her on the small divan and shook the little wooden discs from a box. "I'll take the black," she said. "Perfect match for your heart," he observed. "And that's a concession. I didn't think you had any at all."

She beat him the first game and then he beat her three straight. "You can't even make it interesting," he lamented. "Even when I put my punches."

"Oh, you weren't trying?" "Practically playing blindfolded." She pushed the checkerboard aside.

"What are your plans for the future, Eddie?" The suddenness and earnestness of her question surprised him for a long moment. He blinked a couple of times and fumbled for an answer.

"I get it," he said slowly, meaningly. "Your story again, eh?" She felt a light flush creeping up her face. "Forget it. 'Nothin' game?"

"I'm sorry," he said, strangely contrite. "I'm sorry I said that. But... why do you want to know?"

"She looked at him levelly. "I am really interested. I've wondered why you took up fighting since the first time I saw you in the ring and spoke to you."

"It's paid me well. It's the thing I can do best. And it's honest work."

"For the most part," she admitted. "I intend to keep it that way," he said quietly.

"Do you like fighting?" "Why not? Oh, I'll admit it's no fun getting belted around and stopping a lot of leather with your face. But I don't stop so much," he added significantly.

She smiled slightly. "Yes, I know. You're a pretty slick article. Haven't got a mark on you. Not a smudge of a tin ear."

He held up his hands. "See these? A long time ago I hoped they'd hold a surgeon's scalpel some day. But things don't always work out. He leaned back against the cabin wall.

"Dr. Edward Cavalier," he mused. "That sounds pretty good, doesn't it? Or shall I say—would have sounded good? Funny, isn't it, how people can be denied the things that mean the most to them."

THERE was a funny feeling inside her as she waited for him to continue. She didn't dare utter a sound for fear it would break the spell. This was the Eddie Cavalier she had never known... the Eddie Cavalier the boxing world had never known, for that matter.

"Two years of college was all I was able to get in. My father was killed in an auto accident and I had to drop out of school to keep things going for Mom. I'd been conference welterweight champion in college and when Duffy Kelson came along with an offer to turn pro I jumped at it."

He looked at her keenly. "Simple, isn't it?" She nodded. "Simple enough. But what about the future? I suppose you'll sink your savings into a restaurant, just like Dempsey, Walker, Canzoneri and some of the others."

The purposes of the mattress program are:

A. To cooperate in a national program to utilize surplus cotton, thus decreasing national supplies and eventually improving cotton prices.

B. Encourage the purchase of mattresses by those of higher income levels. (Slogan will be "Buy or Make a Mattress in 1940.")

C. To improve standards of living of all farm families.

D. To teach the value to mattresses made with home-grown cotton.

E. To reach all farm families in the county with the regular Extension Service Mattress making program.

The following County Extension Service leaders will compose the county Mattress committee:

Mrs. Shirley Stuart, County Chairman, Ozan; Mrs. J. L. Eley, Belton; Mrs. John Laha, Mt. Nebo; Mrs. Lee Garland, Allen; Mrs. C. P. Zimmerly, Melrose; Mrs. Carroll Schooley, Treasurer, Allen; Mrs. Jack Huckabee, Liberty Hill; Mrs. Henry Pickard, Rocky Mound; Mrs. Glen Crowell, Bingen; Mrs. Opal Griffin, Hopewell; Mr. C. M. Lewis, Zion; Mr. Odie Landers, Baird's Chapel; Mr. O. L. Reeves, Friendship; Mr. W. S. McDowell, Springhill.

All farm families having a total income for the calendar year 1939 of $400 or less, at least one-half of which was derived from farm operations are eligible to receive materials or a cotton mattress. To receive materials a family must secure an application blank and make a deposit for twine, thread, and needles.

Application blanks may be secured from members of the county or community committees or the County Extension office. All applications requesting mattress materials will be given community committee members. The county AAA committee will approve the eligibility of each family to receive materials.

All communities not represented below are requested to advise with the Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Fletcher, if community organizations are desired. Community Chairmen are announced and may be contacted for information.

Some informants said the warship attack was accompanied by an air battle above the darkened gorge between Norwegian fighting craft and unidentified foreign warplanes. Apparently the invading planes were driven off by the Norwegians.

Reports of the engagement could not be confirmed.

Firemen, Police to Seek Pensions

Circulation of Petitions For Proposed Amendment

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. —(AP)—Arkansas policemen and firemen Sunday began circulation of petitions to place on the November 12 general election ballot a proposed constitutional amendment to permit cities of the first and second class to vote an additional tax not to exceed two mills for policemen and firemen's retirement salaries and pensions.

The petitions were distributed at a state-wide meeting of more than 200 firemen and policemen here. Fire Chief M. J. Brun of Fort Smith presided.

The movement for the constitutional amendment was started after the Arkansas supreme court invalidated a tax for policemen and firemen's pensions authorized by Little Rock voters, because the levy exceeded the municipal constitutional limitation of five mills.

"And how's your wife?"

"Oh, she's been nursing a grouch all week."

"Say, I didn't know you had been laid up, too!"
